

AN IMPORTANT FOOD REFORM.

Production of Chemically Pure Cream of Tartar—Total Elimination of All Lime Impurities—New Discoveries in Refining—A Long Struggle Toward Pure Food.

Discoveries of much importance on account of the relation they bear toward a more wholesome food supply, and consequently upon the public health, have been recently made in the process of refining cream of tartar. Cream of tartar, as is well known, is a bitartrate of potassa purified from the crude tartar, or argol, which collects in a crystalline deposit upon the bottom and sides of wine casks during the fermentation of the wine. This tartar, in its crude state, contains lime and other impurities, which no process of refining known prior to that here described was able to entirely remove.

It is here possible, it is true, to neutralize the lime to some extent by the aid of chemicals, and this method was resorted to in order to procure cream of tartar in small quantities for pharmaceutical purposes; but it was open to serious objection in view of the fact that the chemicals employed for this purpose were not always pure, and that some new method, of that used in commerce, or for culinary purposes, contains the tartrate of lime to an extent much greater than 5 per cent, not infrequently being found, upon analysis, to be to a degree equaling one-fourth or more of its entire weight.

In a report upon the subject of food adulteration made to the New York State Board of Health by Professors Chandler and Love, it is stated that of twenty-seven samples of cream of tartar bought from dealers as pure sixteen were adulterated with various substances from 3 to 93 per cent, while of the remainder all contained tartrate of lime, some as high as 10.99 per cent.

The serious character of this adulteration is more readily appreciated when it is recollected how largely cream of tartar enters into the preparation of the food of every family. In connection with soda in baking powder it is the chief agent now employed for raising and making light and digestible all our biscuits, cakes, and other pastry, and is besides, in many cases, used in the preparation of the old-fashioned yeast for all leavening purposes, so that it is employed to some extent in almost every meal of which we eat. The amount of cream of tartar used in this country in a year in baking powder and otherwise in the preparation of food, is estimated at 14,000,000 pounds. If this were 90 per cent pure—a high estimate—we would consume one million pounds or more of lime annually as a substitute for bread. So large a deterioration becomes appreciable in the deprivation of our food of its nutritive elements not only, but if, as is now supposed, this excess of lime taken into the system has a relation to the painful affections of the kidneys so prevalent in this country, its bearing upon the health of the entire community is too important to be overlooked.

The new process by which cream of tartar is produced 100 per cent pure—that is, with the lime totally eliminated,—by treating the crude material under pressure instead of using any chemicals whatever for the purpose, was the discovery originally of a German chemist, but has been developed and perfected by the Royal Baking Powder Company of this city, through whose efforts a few years since in behalf of a high standard of purity in food, the public was rid of the poisonous alum baking powders at that time so prevalent.

The determination of this company to place upon the market only absolutely pure goods, and the impossibility of doing this from the cream of tartar of commerce, made it apparent that some new method must be sought by which cream of tartar could be procured in large quantities, free from lime and chemically pure. The cream of tartar refiners of this country and Europe when approached upon the subject, declared such a result impossible, and declined to incur the expenditure necessary to make the trial. The Royal Baking Powder Company accordingly resolved to solve the problem for itself, and, having secured the aid of the best chemists of Europe and America, proceeded with its investigations and discoveries until the result, after several years of labor and the expenditure of over $500,000 in the purchase of patents, perfecting of processes and the erection of buildings and machinery, was reached in the complete attainment of the end sought. The works now owned by the New York Tartar Company are located in Brooklyn, and exceed in size and capacity any other similar refinery in the world. They produce a chemically pure cream of tartar, which is now extensively used for pharmaceutical preparations, and in the manufacture of the celebrated Royal Baking Powder.

The energy and outlay that have effected this will undoubtedly be fully rewarded by the public which will chiefly benefit by the successful issue of the investigations. Fewer adulterations of food, and fewer diseases are coming daily to more fully appreciate the value of pure and wholesome food. By the exclusive use of this chemically pure cream of tartar, the Royal Baking Powder is produced entirely free from lime, and absolutely pure, qualities possessed by no other baking powder yet made. A baking powder entirely free from lime or other impurity must not only contain more strength or leavening power, and produce better food, and therefore be more economical for use, but what is more important, possess qualities of superior wholesomeness.

Chemists and physicians have looked upon the experiments with much interest, and regard their success as a matter of much importance.

THE APPROPRIATION BILL.

Opinion of Attorney General Hord Concerning the Right of the Reform School to Draw Money in Advance and the Mode of Settlement.

The Attorney General yesterday rendered the following opinion on questions propounded by the Superintendent of the Reform School for Boys:

Hon. T. J. Charlton, Superintendent of Indiana Reform School for boys.
SIR:—You submit to me the following questions:—
"Heretofore all of our purchases have been made for cash and the money drawn therefor under section 6 of the statute enacted in 1882. (Act 1882, p. 21, Sec. 6). Does the House bill No. 27, passed by the General Assembly of 1883, entitled, 'an act making appropriations for State government and institutions, directing the application of such appropriations, requiring accounts to be kept by the fiscal years of the State, repealing inconsistent laws and declaring an emergency,' approved March 3, 1885, change the time and mode of drawing said money and settlement to be made by the Indiana Reform School for boys?"

Section 6 of the Act of 1883 (page 21) to which you refer, is as follows: "All purchases of supplies for the institution shall be made by the Superintendent at the best advantage for the State, and he shall take vouchers for the same, but such vouchers shall not be passed to his credit until approved by the board. Previous to the regular monthly meeting of the board he shall prepare an estimate of the amount necessary for the expenses of the succeeding month, which shall be approved by the board. Said estimates, together with a monthly account current of the receipts and expenditures during the preceding month and the vouchers for said expenditures, shall be spread on the records of the institution, and then be filed with the Auditor of State, whereupon said Auditor shall draw his warrants on the State Treasury in favor of the Superintendent for the amount of said estimate, to be paid out of the appropriation for said institution." Under this section of the statute the Indiana Reform School for boys was authorized to draw the amount of the estimate of necessary expenses of the institution for the succeeding month prepared by the Superintendent and approved by the Board of Control. Upon presentation of said estimate to the Auditor of State for payment, the Superintendent was required to file with the Auditor of State an account current of the receipts and expenditures during the preceding month, and the vouchers for said expenditures, approved by said board. The amendment of 1883, referred to by you in your inquiry, appropriates "For the maintenance and repairs of the Indiana Reform School for Boys, $50,000." Said statute further provides: "All appropriations made to any and all the public institutions, shall be entered and shown on their books respectively, by years and months, and the fiscal year shall be the year ending on the 30th day of September. At each monthly or quarterly settlement with the Auditor, the original bills, receipts and vouchers for expenditures made, shall be returned to said Auditor, and all unexpended balances of receipts, revenues or appropriations shall be paid into the State Treasury, and a proper receipt and quietus given by the Treasurer and Auditor of the State for the same. The original bills, receipts and vouchers shall be fully shown in an annual report to be made to the Governor between the 1st of January and the last day of December next following."

The statute of 1883, so far as it required the Superintendent to prepare a monthly estimate of the amount required and necessary for the expenses of the institution, for the succeeding month, and the approval thereof by the Board of Control, and the payment thereon in advance by the Treasurer, is not abrogated by the said act of 1883, but it is still the duty of the Superintendent to prepare monthly estimates of the expenses of the succeeding month, and the Board of Control to approve thereof, and to make a monthly account current of the receipts and expenditures during the preceding month, and such account current and vouchers are to be spread on the records of the institution, and such account current and the original bills, receipts and vouchers for expenditures are to be returned to the Auditor of State for settlement, and the unexpended balance of receipts, revenues and appropriations held by the institution are to be paid into the State Treasury, and the institution will have a quietus therefor. Upon presentation of such estimate and settlement of the preceding month with the Auditor of State, the Auditor will draw warrant for the payment of such estimate. The unexpended money returned to the Treasury by the Superintendent is not deducted from the operation of the statute approving the same, but the institution may continue to make monthly estimates when necessary and required for the use thereof, and draw the amount in advance, not exceeding $50,000 during the fiscal year. Respectfully,
FRANCIS T. HORD,
Attorney General of Indiana.

Sale of University Lands.

Attorney General Hord gave an opinion yesterday concerning the new appropriation bill, which is published elsewhere in this paper. He also gave an opinion to the Auditor of State concerning university lands. He holds that if a purchaser fails to pay any installment of interest on the deferred payments of purchase money when it becomes due, the contract is forfeited and the land reverts to the State for the use of the university, and the County Auditor is required to refile under the statute. That at any time before a second sale, payment of the sum due with interest for the delay and all costs, together with 2 per cent damages upon the amount due on such lands, shall prevent such resale and revive the original contract. He holds that the former delinquent owner in case of a resale may at any time within one year redeem the same by complying with the statute, and that a sale for less than the appraised value is a nullity.

Hazleton Brothers have in their warehouses a Square piano made by them over twenty-five years ago, since which time it has been in almost constant use, and to day it is seemingly as good as when it left the factory in 1860. Such instruments as these, scattered as they are promiscuously over the country, are standing advertisements and testimonials that bring customers and patrons to the manufacturer.

Joe Meyer, Fort Worth, Texas; Edwin Bindley, Pittsburg; W. C. Barnard, Palestine, Ind.; John W. Elstun and William L. Baker, of this city, each purchased a fine Hazleton Piano, at Pearson's Music House, 19 North Pennsylvania street, last week.
